February 22, 2017

Featuring Special Performances by:

BONNIE PAINE was born and raised in Tahlequah, OK—the end of the Trail of Tears and the capital of the Cherokee Nation. Her first instrument was the drum kit when she was 5, later came the electric guitar, bongos, congas, flute, washboard, djembe, cello, and musical saw. Since graduating from high school, Bonnie has traveled across Europe, Asia, and Africa to learn about different types of indigenous music. As a founding member of internationally touring Colorado folk band Elephant Revival, Bonnie continues to travel the world, gaining cultural experiences from each new journey.

SCOTTY STOUGHTON - At the heart of all his endeavors, Scotty Stoughton is an artist. He lives and breathes through music and the world that holds its sound waves. On stage as front man with Bonfire Dub or behind the scenes producing a festival, Stoughton values music as more than a platform where rhythm meets beat. For him, it's what sets the stage for a life worth living, a vision worth having and a dream worth creating. Stoughton's production company, Bonfire Entertainment, puts a spotlight on community and interpersonal connection, and the overall impact we have on the land on which we stand. His support of international nonprofit organizations, along with local involvement through music and the rivers sports company he co-founded, Stand Up Paddle Colorado, keeps his hands moving quickly without ever losing the beat. He recently spent 21 days Stand Up Paddling the Grand Canyon as well as releasing the third Bonfire Dub album.
